King City

Where would one live if one could live absolutely anywhere? In its 2019 survey of Canada's best places to live, MoneySense Magazine ranked King no. 4 out of Canada's "Richest Places"—number 1 in Ontario, for those with the highest average household net worth—even though property prices still afford substantially more house and property than in other such enclaves. Top private schools, horse farms, easy access to highway and Toronto's international airport and GO service facilitate community, convenience and character.

Unique Location for New Country Homes

In the current housing shortage, ideally-located land within a designated "settlement area" can have unprecedented potential. All of the natural beauty and lifestyle for which King is renowned is at your fingertips in this extraordinary offering. An undeveloped parcel of land within a community of this calibre, set among woods, rolling hills and natural features, near Toronto yet a world away, will never be replicated.
